VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN WELL ON WAY TO GOAL FOR GRIMSBY $42,200 RAISED IN THREE DAYS

Nearly Fifteen Thousand Dollars Subscribed Each Day During First Three Days Of Week — Total Now $42,200 — Heavy Weather Earlier In Week No Deterrent To Canvassers — Lions Club Subscribes $1,000.

James W. Baker, chairman of the Victory Loan here, announced this morning that the total subscriptions for the first three days here stands at $42,200.

Early Monday morning salesmen started on a canvass of all the houses of this district on behalf of the Second Victory Loan. They marched through abnormal snow, and those responsible for distributing the Loan with residents on top of the "mountain" were undismayed by the almost impassable roads.

Returning to headquarters Monday night, they reported that returns for the day amounted to $12,000. On Tuesday, the returns were boosted to $20,100, and all concerned expressed their belief that the loan would go "over the top" during the three week campaign.

The Grimsby Lions Club, at Tuesday's meeting, decided to invest in a thousand dollars worth of bonds after some discussion, while local citizens who have had explained to them the ease with which these bonds can be purchased on the installment plan, are buying up the loan in a way which makes it appear that the record of the last Loan might be beaten.

PEACH BUDS WIN 4-3 OFF CALEDONIANS

Play-Off Upset Was Exciting Game With Many Penalties Return Game Tomorrow At Caledonia.

The Caledonia entry in the O.H. A. Juniors "C" group has finally been beaten. Manager Clarence Rushton of the Grimsby Peach Buds is today sporting a broad smile. Handing the visitors their first defeat of the season, the Peach Buds finally down the Caledonia Jax by leaving the ice at the long end of a 4-3 count after playing what many who saw the game called "one of the best" that has been seen here for some time. In so doing they vindicated the faith in them possessed by their manager, who said weeks that Caledonia would be beaten in the playoffs, this despite the fact that the local team appeared to be able to make little headway against this aggregation during the season.

After allowing their opponents to pile up a formidable lead of three points in the first period, the Buds went to work in the second and third frame, and while holding Caledonia scoreless, they slipped the gutta percha past the goal tender four times.

The game was a bruising affair with little quarter asked. Referee Hugh McLean had his hands full looking after several penalties and they amounted to more than twice the number of goals scored. However, the penalties were meted out for overcauseness rather than misconduct. The game was fast and hard and clean. The closing minutes of the last frame were rather nerve-wracking for local fans. Grimsby had two men off the ice and Caledonia tried to press the advantage time and again.

Rushton's two gallies, together with one each from Smith and Blanchard, were responsible for the win. Molenbocker and Jamieson scored for the visitors.

Having won last night's game, the Buds journey to Caledonia tomorrow night for the second of the two out of three series, and Manager Rushton believes that another O.H.A. title will be in Grimsby some time prior to midnight Friday. A third game, if it is necessary, will be played in Caledonia.

Grimsby Library Board Headed By H. Matchett

At the Annual Meeting of Grimsby Public Library Board on February 12th, the records for the year showed a very substantial increase in the reading of non-fiction, along with a growing demand for the better class of fiction. This is most gratifying to the Board.

Harold B. Matchett was elected chairman of the Board, and J. G. McIntosh was reappointed secretary-treasurer. Committees were named as follows: Finance, P. V. Smith, W. H. Parsons; Book, Miss C. Freshwater, Harold Johnson; Property, P. E. Tregunno, E. S. Johnson.

During the year some 3,000 magazines were forwarded to the Canadian Red Cross Society for distribution to sailors, as well as 600 books for soldiers. The Board welcomes suitable books and magazines from the general public for this purpose.

PTE. J. O. LIVINGSTON IS TRANSFERRED

Pte. J. O. Livingston is spending the weekend in Grimsby visiting his mother, Mrs. J. A. Livingston, Main Street. Pte. J. A. Livingston, who has been stationed at Spainia, has been transferred to the Canadian Army Trade School at Hamilton.

Province Will Not Subsidize New Roads This Year

Notice Received From Highways Department States That Help Will Continue For Maintaining Existing Roads.

No subsidization of new road building this year will be in effect, according to word received from the Ontario Department of Highways by the North Grimsby Township Council. An allowance will be made, however, on the maintenance of present roads. No reply was received from the Department on the protest which was entered last month with regard to the further widening and improving of the Queen Elizabeth Way.

"The men start out early in the morning, and work through for at least twelve hours. They try to visit thirty to forty homes during the day, and this means that they have about twenty minutes at each home less, of course, the time spent going from one home to another," explained Ralph W. Boehm, captain of sales for Grimsby and the district. "If the salesmen are to complete their assignment properly and on time, they have to cut out all the duplications possible. I hope that all citizens will do their best to make it possible to avoid the need of calling back."

Rent Authority Forms Available

Byron A. Smith, clerk of the division court here, announced Tuesday that he had received a supply of forms for use by landlords and tenants. Under the rent controller's rulings, no increase is allowed without approval of the rent board, and such an application must be entered on one of the forms provided for that purpose. There are also forms for use of tenants seeking a reduction in rent.

These forms are available at the division court office, Oak Street.

Lions And Guests Enjoy Ladies' Night

Nearly three hundred persons sat down to dinner last Tuesday evening as the Grimsby Lions Club entertained at the annual Ladies' Night held by the club. President A. R. Globe welcomed the guests, and P. V. Smith acted as chairman for the evening.

The toast "To the Ladies" was again proposed by Harold B. Matchett in his usual engaging style, and responded to by Mrs. Erwin Phelps. In proposing his toast, Mr. Matchett stressed the role of women in the careers of successful men.

D. E. Anderson proposed a toast to those on active service. He reminded those present that despite the fact that this is a war of machines, planes have to be flown and tanks driven and ships manned. Rev. George Taylor Munro, chaplain of the club, whose four sons are on active service responded with a plea for understanding of the men who are in uniform.

"In many cases they have left home for the first time, except when they have gone on holidays," he said. "Camp life is different. It is regimented and hard, and is a test of the men themselves. We should remember this. They live, many of them, a lonely and lovesome life."

Mr. Taylor-Munro said that the one thing above all others which the soldiers would like is a realization of the situation by those at home, and that this could best be demonstrated by conservation of commodities without rationing. He mentioned gasoline and sugar as items... these things which loyal citizens should conserve without recourse to rationing.

During the evening the guests were entertained with several songs sung by Irene Ward, and many books of Hamilton. These talented youngsters appeared at the party staged by the Lions last night.

This presentation various national costumes were displayed, and several dances were performed. The choral singing directed by Gordon L. Eaton was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Double Jam Quota Set For Institute Through Canada

Grimsby Group Plans to Meet Increased Needs For Sugar Supplies—Huge Shipments Were Made Last Year.

Double the quantity of jam made last year will be required by the Canadian Red Cross Society for shipment overseas this year. Grimsby Women's Institute has been told. Last summer the jam was made by a Hamilton canning factory, the local Institute providing the sugar at a cost of $28.00. This means that Grimsby Institute must find at least $50.00 by the time the jam season arrives.

Mrs. Robert Neale, Mrs. Wm. Layton, Mrs. Robt. Walters and Mrs. Andrew Stevenson were appointed a committee to see that the necessary funds were in the treasury by the time required.

The financial statement and report of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario War Charities Fund were given to the meeting. From April 1st to December 1st, 1941, over $7,000 passed through this fund and was distributed to Red Cross Blanket Fund, Russian Relief, Handkerchief Appeal, Queen's Canadian Fund, Air Raid Victim, Australian and New Zealand Comforts Club, while a valuable consignment of garden seeds was sent to British Institutes. Grimsby Institute is a regular contributor to this fund.

The Soldier's Box will be packed and despatched in time for Easter delivery.

Mrs. Miriam Cline was introduced to the meeting and told some of the entertaining features of her fourteen years among the people of the Kentucky Mountains—Southern Highlanders is the name they like to be called.

It was after hearing a group of young Kentucky Mountaineers sing when she was a student in (Continued on page 4)

SPEAKER SOUNDS GRAVE NOTE OF WARNING AT THUMBS UP PRESENTATION ON THURSDAY

Review Attracts Much Applause From Audience — Scots Comedienne Recalled Often For Riotous Take-off On Gracie Fields — H. G. Fox Warns Of Peril Facing Democracies In Urging Victory Loan Support.

The Thumbs Up Review was seen and enjoyed by a large audience in the high school auditorium last Thursday evening as over a score of talented entertainers staged one of the most colorful shows which has been seen here for some time in the interests of Canada's Second Victory Loan.

The show, which is sponsored by the Vi-Tone Sales Company, was under the direction of Gordon Anderson, who acted as master of ceremonies during the evening. Special interest in the show was to be found in the dancing, which was directed by Miss Dorcas Groom of Hamilton, who is well known as a dancing and skating star, and who at one time taught dancing in Grimsby. While still recovering from a recent operation, Miss Groom appeared on the stage to share in the well-earned applause tendered to her dancing girls.

Loudest applause of the evening went to Edna Lane, the eccentric singer and dancer who "took off" Gracie Fields in a way which delighted the audience. She was called back time and time again for encore.

Solemn words of warning were sounded during the course of the presentation by Dr. H. G. Fox, chairman of the Lincoln County Victory Loan Committee, who spoke briefly of the country's needs.

"We must wake up," he challenged. "Singapore, that great naval base and allied bastion, is almost in the enemy's hands, it indeed, they have not got it already. If Singapore falls, that victory which we are hoping for will be deferred for many years." Then, after a pause, the speaker said gravely, "If we ever win."

"It is not written in the stars that every victory shall be ours, and this one will not be ours without the resolution of every citizen in the Dominion."

Dr. Fox spoke of the vast sums of money which the war effort required, and declared that while the amount seemed great, there was much more than $600,000,000 in the banks at the present time.

The speaker pointed out that there were two ways in which the government could finance the war, and that there was no doubt as to which way was the Canadian way.

"We must do it freely and patriotically and voluntarily, or it will be done for us in the other way. Make no mistake about it, this is a struggle for our very existence."

N. Grimsby Dog Tax By-law Passed

U.S. FORCES HERE FRIDAY

Famed Yankee Regiment To Pause Here Tomorrow Morning In Tour On Behalf Of Lorne.

The much-discussed dog-tax by-law was passed by the Township Council, and it calls for the payment of two dollars for the first male dog and four dollars for all other dogs, whether owned or harboured in North Grimsby Township. The fee for female dogs was set at five dollars per dog per year, and a kennel fee of ten dollars was also called for. H. G. Metcalfe, township assessor, was appointed to collect these licenses, which call for tags being worn on each dog. The collection is due and will be made at the time of the annual assessment.

Nearly Eighty Men Gave Their Blood To The Red Cross

Colds Reduce Number Who Went To Hamilton Last Monday Morning.

Although the number of Grimsby men who went to Hamilton last Monday for the second "Grimsy Day" at the Hamilton Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic was less than the hundred who made the journey on the first occasion, William Howson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of the arrangements stated that he was pleased with the response on this occasion.

Those who made the trip braved driving conditions that were treacherous. A fine drizzle had fallen, and as a result the highways were coated with a dangerous film of ice.

Mr. Howson declared that the prevalence of colds right now was undoubtedly responsible for the fact that slightly less than eighty men gave their blood on Monday, and he reported that several men had told him that they would "turn it up" when they have recovered.

At Hamilton, arrangements were carried out in the smoothest possible manner. Several tables had been added, and, with the addition of several nurses, the waiting noticeable the last time was eliminated.

Grimsby is to have the unusual privilege of welcoming a detachment of one of the most famous United States army regiments tomorrow morning when one hundred and thirty men of the 101st Regiment of the 26th Division of the First United States Army pause here for a brief visit. They are slated to arrive here at 10:15.

The troops are scheduled to visit several Niagara Peninsula points during the next few days.

The regiment, which will be supported by its own band, will also be accompanied by some 125 Canadian troops. It will be under the command of Brigadier General Thomas E. Troland, and is at present touring Ontario on a goodwill "invasion" on behalf of Canada's Second Victory Loan.

It is expected that the troops will be welcomed on behalf of the Town of Grimsby by Mayor Eric S. Johnson, while both schools will be closed for awhile in order that the pupils might witness the unique spectacle of armed forces of another country in Canada as welcome guests.

The last time United States troops were in Canada was in 1917, when an unarmed detachment of the Michigan National Guard took part in a parade at Sault Ste. Marie on the occasion of a Dominion Day Celebration sponsored by the Canadian Agricultural Society.

Prior to that, the United States sent an armed force into Canada for a different purpose. Over a century and a quarter ago the district which plays host to the visitors was receiving visitors of another type. The War of 1812 was on, and United States forces succeeded travelling the distance of the Niagara Peninsula, fighting a bloody battle at Stoney Creek and reaching the present site of Toronto, York as the town was then called, was set afire.

NO DAMAGE

After making a fast run to a Main Street, West residence at noon last Tuesday, local firemen found that a small chimney blaze had already been brought under control.

SECOND VICTORY LOAN DESERVES SUPPORT

LOCAL CHURCHES CLUBS AND

Lazy Toes Cause Of Tired Feet

Do aching feet reduce your ability to do a good day's work? According to Dr. Dudley J. Morton, a leading American authority on the foot, the trouble with most aching feet lies not in fallen arches or bad shoes but in poorly distributed weight. He does not deny that a few of us may need shoes prescribed by an orthopedic surgeon, but he does deny that shoes—with the exception of the high-heeled outrages to common sense that women wear—are responsible for most foot troubles. He demands of a shoe no more than that it be comfortable, that it have ample length and toe space and that the heel fit snugly. For women he recommends the lowest heels consistent with comfort for day wear, and suggests that high heels be reserved for formal occasions.

Distribute the weight of the body properly on the bones and most aching feet will respond, is Dr. Morton's message to a world that walks in pain. Only feet that are malformed or broken down fail to respond to the procedure. They alone need the help of arch supports, special shoes and other devices.

You do not have to be told that when you stand you put much of your weight on your strong, solid heel, but that when you walk you throw all your weight forward so that it has to be carried by the five slender bones—metatarsals—which lie just behind the toes until you put your other heel down again. Four of the metatarsal bones of each foot are no bigger than cigarettes, and the one behind the great toe about twice as large. Twice as much weight should be borne by the bigger bone as by the other four toes.

What do the X-rays show when most feet ache? The metatarsal behind the second toe is too wide and the other metatarsals—sometimes those of the big toe as well—are too thin. This means that the second toe, especially its metatarsal, is forced to do some of the work of the big toe as well as of the other three toes.

An enlarged second metatarsal is not the cause of pain but the effect of a leading first metatarsal. The second metatarsal enlarges just as one arm enlarges when the other is crippled. When the first metatarsal is not exercising its function properly callouses—which always appear where the weight falls most heavily—form on the soles of those who have to stand long hours at their work. Callouses act as irritants to the skin surface; deep pain in the feet results from the excessive weight that falls on the second metatarsal, which strains and endures its joints, causing jangled nerves and aching muscles.

To correct these conditions, Dr. Morton prescribes first of all rest. Next comes stimulation of the circulation, accomplished by plunging the suffering feet first in hot water, then in cold—a minute and a half in hot water, half a minute in cold. After ten minutes of this you work the toes and ankles for another five minutes to pep up circulation and then you should be done for a half hour of complete relaxation. The contrast plunges are better than strapping, though that may sometimes be resorted to in certain circumstances.

All this helps to relieve the irritated state of the joints, muscles and to relieve pain. To redistribute

A True Lent

By Robert Herrick—1591-1674

Is this a fast to keep
To harder lean,
And clean
From fat of veals and sheep?

Is it to quit the dish
Of flesh, yet still
To fill
The platter high with fish?

Is it to fast an hour,
Or ragged to go,
Or show
A downcast look and sour?

No! 'tis a fast to dole
Thy sheaf of wheat,
And meat,
Undo the hungry soul.

It is to fast from strife;
From old debts,
And hate,
To circumcise thy life.

To show a heart grief-rent;
To strive thy sin,
Not bar,
And that's to keep thy Lent.

Robert Herrick, who wrote this poem, was born in London in 1591. In 1620 he graduated from Cambridge with the degree of M.A. and in 1639 became clergyman of the remote country parish of Dean Prior, Devonshire.

At first he rebelled bitterly against the dullness of his lot, feeling cut off from all social and literary intercourse. Soon becoming reconciled to the peaceful existence it was not long before he was immortalizing in charming verse the rural and semi-pagan customs of the village. He has left to us his collection of lyrical poems, entitled "Hesperides; or the Works both Human and Divine of Robert Herrick."

As it is altogether likely that the boy Herrick received his early education at the famous Westminster School, what is more probable than that he took part in the Shrove Tuesday custom—even then ancient—known as the "Pancake Grease," a struggle to obtain possession of a pancake? The custom is perhaps more familiar to us as "Tossing the Pancake."

"When I was just a little child, I'm telling you quite true, I thought that scarlet poppies were The gayest flower that grew. They grew in a gay garden plot. Around a flowering quince; I thought them then the gayest flowers. But oh—that is long since! No longer gay in garden plots The poppies seem to me. There is no other flower so red, As scarlet poppies be."

A man is relieved and gay when he has put his heart into his work and done his best; but what he has said or done otherwise shall give him no peace. —R. W. Emerson.

weight Dr. Morton employs an insole with an elevation of proper thickness that falls beneath the toe joint. The principle is just the same as that which a waiter applies by putting a wad of paper under the short leg of a restaurant table to stop wobbling. Thus reported, the big toe is put to work again and made to carry its share of the load.

Shrove Tuesday

Shrove Tuesday is the Tuesday before Ash Wednesday, and thus belongs to the days of preparation for Lent. The name refers to the fact that it was the time for "shrift" or confession before entering upon the great fast. The pancakes appropriate to the day are the sole survivors of the merrymakings with which it was once celebrated.

In New Orleans the day has won wide publicity as "Mardi Gras," literally "Fat Tuesday," presumably because it was the last day on which fat might be used. Battles of flowers and other festivities mark its observance. The carnival of Mardi Gras was imported from France when Louisiana was a French possession and New Orleans its principal settlement.

Ash Wednesday receives its name from the ceremonial use, in the early Church, of ashes as a symbol of penitence. It is based on the penance of "sackcloth and ashes" so often spoken of in the Old Testament. The ceremony is derived from the custom of public penance when the sinner to be reconciled had to appear in the congregation clad in sackcloth and covered with ashes. Eventually the custom was extended to the whole congregation. Inviting the people to approach, the priest marked the sign of the cross with the consecrated ashes upon the forehead of each as they knelt. The ashes were obtained by burning the palms used on Palm Sunday of the previous year.

George Washington's Birthday

George Washington, the first President of the United States, whose memory will be honoured on February 22nd, was born at Bridge's Creek, Virginia, in 1732—two hundred and ten years ago.

He died at Mount Vernon in 1799. He was only 67. We are told that the attacks of the press and the enmity of former political friends embittered his last years. The words have a familiar ring. They might be written on the premature tomb of many a patriot who has given himself unstintingly to his country's service only to find that envy and malice and slander are his reward.

His early life showed no signs of the greatness which the future held. It might be said of him, as it was said of Lincoln, that he was educated into greatness by the increasing weight of his responsibilities and the manner in which he met them.

In the War of Independence he was commander in chief of the colonial forces during the whole of the campaign. After the Union was formed in 1776 he held the office of President for two consecutive terms, refusing a third. For these services he took no salary.

He was a man of great strength of will and of strong personality, and though he fought against the English, was a typical English gentleman.

It was Judge Marshall in an oration made at the time of Washington's death who spoke of him as the greatest American, "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

He alone realized the greatness of the nation he was founding, which owes to him its very existence.

Jesus Appoints And Teaches The Twelve Apostles

Luke 6:12-28

GOLDEN TEXT

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in Heaven.—Matthew 5:16.

Approach to The Lesson

To the twelve apostles a double ministry has been appointed. They were in a very special sense the messengers of Messiah to Israel, but they are also apostles of the Church, and as such were re-commissioned by the risen Lord and sent by Him to all nations, to gather out of the gentiles, as well as of the Jews, a people for His name (Acts 1:8, 7, 8).

A Lesson Outline

Chosen by Christ (Luke 6:13). Commissioned by Him (Mark 3:14). Authenticated by works of power (Mark 3:15). Instructed as to their calling (Matt. 5:7). Warned of unbelievers hatred (Luke 6:22). Reward promised for faithfulness (Luke 6:23). To return blessing for evil (Luke 6:27-28).

The Heart of The Lesson

In appointing his Apostles, carry the Gospel to Jew and Gentile. Our Lord left them under no misapprehension as to the cost of discipleship. He promised no bed of roses, no easy path. He pointed out that His followers must count on opposition.

Application

It is a mistake to speak of the sermon on the Mount as the Gospel. It does not set forth the plan of salvation, but the principles that should govern and characterize those who recognize Christ's authority. Are we prepared to share the world's opposition, knowing we have the divine favor?

The SNAPSHOT GUIDE

ANIMAL SNAPSHOTS

Farm animals and pets at home offer excellent subject matter for the amateur photographer. Story-telling shots like this are easily obtained with a simple box camera, of the type thousands of us possess.

MANY camera-hobbyists do not have access to sea, so lack the opportunity to picture wild animals, but there are two other groups—pets at home or domestic animals on the farm—that are available to almost everyone. And, I believe that they are just as interesting, and maybe better, for picture purposes.

Most of our homes have pets and a good collection of pictures is always in order because dogs and cats have definite personalities which can be portrayed with the camera. Often a picture-biography of a puppy—telling of his daily life and activities—is about as interesting as a similar picture-story of a person. Children usually are fond of pets, and as they play together or merely pose, the amateur photographer has a splendid chance to get many appealing snapshots.

Around the farm, there are dozens of opportunities for really fine animal pictures. Consider, for example, a herd of cows homeward bound from pasture, work horses plowing fields or hauling a load of harvested grain, or sheep grazing on the hillside. And don't forget farm fowl—a hen mothering her brood of chicks, a rooster perched high on a fence post, or the proud turkey as he struts around the yard. All these are photographic material of the finest order.

Keep your eyes open for incidents that will give a story-telling flavor to your snapshots. Watch for the dignified duck as they parade to the pond, or for horses standing with their heads together as if in deep conversation, sheep being sheared, or the little farm girl with her pet lamb. For humor, plus appeal, try a few shots of a long-eared donkey or mule, or six or seven little pigs "at dinner."

You don't need special camera equipment for good animal photographs. All you really must have is an observant eye and a willingness to wait until the best pose or expression occurs. Start a picture story of pets and animals. Pack a collection will make a fascinating album, well worth your time and effort.

RADIO SPOTLIGHT

With the cards down and ducats collected on 1941's big movie hits, Universal hit the jack-pot with two funny fellows, named Abbott and Costello. Their hits of the year were really hits, and lifted them up high on the list of big grossers for the industry. And, their Sunday night radio show with Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, continues to be the funniest of the radio week, with one survey putting it right into number one position as Canada's most widely listened to night time program! CKOC in Hamilton, 1150 on your radio dial, carries the show, with the CBC network; it is now heard at 8:00 p.m. E.D.T.

Seems that sometime ago, Miss Brown (a stickler for realism), was faced with the problem of obtaining a "heart-beat" for the Inner Sanctum Mystery play "The Tell Tale Heart". He tried the human heart, but it wasn't versatile enough—it couldn't be moderated or slowed up as the script required. So he obtained the desired effect by having the sound man hold a hand microphone against one side of his chest, while thumping the other side with a felt-covered hammer! Such realism no doubt explains the effectiveness of the Sunday night Inner Sanctum Mystery, broadcast from CKOC and a network of Canadian stations each Sunday night at 8:30.

Sunday, especially during the winter-time, is a day of rest at home for most of us. We listen to our radios—entertain our friends, and generally relax and equip ourselves for the week to come. Sunday on CKOC, 1150 on your dial, is a day of outstanding broadcasting, bringing a wealth of worth-while programs—variety into every home. In keeping with the day, a great many are finding quiet inspiration in the broadcast of the Cathedral Hour at two o'clock. With Harry

BRITAIN BUILDS BLITZ HOMES

BRITAIN'S latest answer to the war from the sky is a small, sturdy "blitz home" introduced a few weeks ago in Coventry. The first to be completed was recently formally opened by Coventry's mayor, Councillor A. R. Grindley. Coventry's experiment of building houses in which timber is used only for the front door is attracting wide attention.

Four hundred of these houses are being built. Every room is a virtual air raid shelter. A specially reinforced steel pantry, provided with bunks, forms the shelter proper.

Built to be a proof against anything but a direct hit, the houses have already stood up to blast from a bomb exploded nearby.

Labour-saving has been the prime requisite in their construction. They have nine-inch concrete flat roofs, tiled floors, steel frames for doors and windows, concrete staircases and specially designed bricks which eliminate the use of laths for holding plaster to walls and ceilings.

Steel plates replace the tile in fireplaces, one of which has a boiler in the back to provide hot water. Outside is a detached building to serve as a small car garage.

The rest of a three-bedroom house would be $5 and of a bungalow $3 a week.

Farmerettes May Get New Uniforms

The Farmerette Brigade this summer may blossom out in smartly tailored uniform consisting of tunic and skirt. They are to be of crisp cotton in soldier blue shade, and will be further enhanced with brass buttons. A wedge cap, similar to that worn by the active service forces, goes with the uniform.

There are four units in the Ontario Farm Service Corps. The Farm Cadet Brigade enrolls secondary school and other young men of 18 years and over. The Farmerette Brigade is for secondary school, college and university students and teachers. The Women's Land Brigade calls for

CANADIAN MERCURY SERVES WAR NEEDS

Canada now produces mercury in sufficient quantity to provide for all needs of the Dominion and a surplus for Great Britain. Discovery of mercury deposits in the Linchi Lake area, north of this point on the Canadian National Railways, added largely to the supplies of this important metal which has important war uses particularly in electrical instruments and apparatus, and in the manufacture of drugs and chemicals.

ATLANTIC FERRY PILOT VISITS OLD HOME TOWN

Two Trans-Canada Air Lines' pilots, Captains George Lothian and Malcolm Barclay, have resumed airline service after a three-months' leave of absence during which they ferried bombers across the Atlantic for the Ferry Command. For Barclay it provided an opportunity to visit his home town, Greenock, Scotland, and swap notes with his brother Captain David Barclay, of Scottish Airways, who has distinguished himself making "mercy flights" to remote parts of Scotland. Since leaving Scotland 12 years ago Malcolm has done the same thing in Canada as a "bush" flyer before joining T.C.A. Both men learned their flying at Renfrew. They are sons of a Greenock dairyman.

We promise that you shall inherit a Canada blessed with the liberty our fathers bequeathed to us. You shall be free as we are free.

So we gladly lend our money to our country in this crisis. We will buy Victory Bonds to the very limit. We must and we will make sure that the threat of a brutal way of life is banished forever.

A Good Job Done

ARMY of men have been fighting one of the most stubborn foes which mankind has to face during the past week and a half, and while their job seems nearly finished, many of them are carrying the battle on. And, thanks to these men, we have had our roads and highways opened in short order when the magnitude of the snow fall is fully realized.

The crews of Department of Highways men and town employees who started nearly two weeks ago have had anything but an easy task. The "snow weekend" was a cold one. Under the mountainous drifts lay the ice which had formed on the previous Friday. Snow plows were damaged. The weight of the work they were doing ruined several motors. Long hours of grueling work were entailed, and this work went on while citizens of this community were awake and asleep.

There were a few malcontents, as there always are, who called the Highways Department office to demand a little more action. Several of those operating plows were called to task by irate motorists. This they took as a part of the game, and the work which they did is deserving of the highest praise.

These remarks should also apply to the town workers who started out Saturday evening and worked throughout the night in order to make the streets passable for citizens at church time. Even they, after working those long hours, were criticized. Truly, ninety-nine per cent of the world does not know how the one per cent lives.

Lend A Hand, Too!

THREE more of men who took up the cudgels on behalf of Canada's Second Victory Loan got started last Monday in weather that was anything but of their own choosing. They have heavy weather under foot, and those riding on top of the "mountain" have heavy weather around their knees. Their work is arduous and, in many cases, discouraging.

One salesman reported last Monday evening that he had three return calls to make. The prospects on whom he called were not sure of whether or not they would be investing in their own welfare at this time. Such remarks come from men but unpatriotic citizens. Those doing the canvassing are willing and glad to answer questions. They will be pleased to explain how time payments for bonds may be easily arranged, and are only too anxious to help in every way they can to make it easy for bond purchasers to do their part.

But the salesman who calls surely should not have to plead the cause of his own country in an effort to persuade a prospect that his duty to Canada is his duty to himself. He should not have to play the role of beggar, as so many of them have already, because someone hasn't made up his or her mind. It takes one minute to say "Till take so much" and two minutes to fill out the application blank. This gives ample time for questions to be answered.

During the course of the last Victory Loan, there were several who explained to their friends that they "would not see" their way clear to making an investment in their own country, despite the fact that several of their own townsmen "saw their way clear" to making a much greater sacrifice. It was noticed that several of these oral patriots are quick to criticize young men for not being in uniform, or others stood in line for the greatest condemnation which could be heaped on any man's shoulders.

It is to be hoped that the little red maple leaves said in his country will be seen on the clothes of nearly every citizen of the community. And it is to be hoped that our neighbours who are acting as our agents by receiving our subscriptions will have placed a task as possible. Everyone has known as the Second Victory Loan for some time now. There patriotic should have required some thought on this vital matter before this.

Criticism Again

THIS war news last week was anything but cheerful. The tone of the British Prime Minister in his radiocast report to the nation was grim. Gone were the taunts which he flung at the enemy. In their place was a frank and amazing confession that he had underestimated the strength of the Japnese war machine. In this underestimation, he was not alone. Few there were who could have foreseen the trend of events following the attack on Pearl Harbour.

When Churchill answered his critics just over three weeks ago he made it clear that he had no intention of shedding any of the friends and associates working under him. He told the British Parliament that if the members or the people had any criticism to make, they must make it at him directly. His stand was a courageous one, and the sheer weight of his personality carried the day.

In the short time then much has happened, and several bad mistakes have been made. Responsibility for these mistakes cannot rest entirely on the shoulders of the Prime Minister. He is not such a one-man government that no responsibilities are delegated to other ministers and bureau heads. Churchill was not deaf to the criticisms then, and this time there is every reason to believe that their sting will be sharper.

The more important of the British newspapers, with but one exception have taken up the hue and cry. In Canada, some newspapers have condemned their British colleagues for creating a situation which will give encouragement to the enemy. Several of them forget that they are condemning an action of which they themselves have been guilty to an unprecedented degree. The feelings which the enemy might have toward the British government after this criticism will not be different than the feelings which they have toward the "blacklist" of the Empire's war effort.

Even if Churchill makes a change in his government, as he is almost certain to do now, he will remain as the object of affection to the vast majority of Britons. There is nothing Hitler would like better than to see him out of power. For years while Churchill was prodding and urging for a realization of the dangers in which his country was situated, Hitler was condemning him as a "warmonger". So were many Britons and British newspapers. Churchill was unable to find a seat in the House of Commons until war broke out.

The critics of Britain's war policy would do well to remember that mistakes in wartime are always costly. And because of the stress of modern warfare, they are more frequent in their occurrence. Had Churchill's council prevailed at the time, Britain would have been in a better position to meet the Nazi menace, if, indeed, there had been a war at all.

Modern Warfare

(The First in A Series Of Five Discussions)

THREE-QUARTERS of the human race are moving with us, said Prime Minister Winston Churchill last Sunday. One quarter of the human race is elsewhere—either against us or neutral. The odds which have been thus piled up against the Axis nations are formidable. Germany, including Austria and Sudetenland, along with Italy and Japan, have an aggregate population of less than two hundred and twenty-five million people. These three nations have challenged Great Britain and the British Commonwealth of Nations, the United States, Russia, China, and several other nations with an aggregate, for those nations named only, of about eight hundred million people.

Despite these great odds, Prime Minister Churchill had to report crushing defeats and tremendous gains by the enemy. Before the German attack on Russia really gained in momentum, the Russians had lost one third of their production capacity to the Germans to say nothing of the production which was incapsulated through enemy action. The war in Libya is still a doubtful issue. New German fleet units have escaped into the open, where their threat will have to be met by a combined allied navy already seriously strained. British prestige and allied military advantages in the Far East received a serious setback.

In the search for people on whom to pin the blame for these calamitous events, many critics have lost sight of some very obvious lessons which might well be taken from the events of the past few weeks. One is that modern warfare, as conceived by the Allies, is so unlike the enemies' version of modern warfare that this misconception has been working against us for far too long. The difference is to be seen in a close study of the war in France, the evacuation from Greece and the engagement around Crete. Had it been seen in Norway and Denmark as it was there to see, France would probably have fallen, but much of the tragic history of this war which followed might have been written differently.

The most obvious inference to be taken from Churchill's Sunday speech is that the enemy possesses something, whether it be technique, equipment or a combination of both, which is serving them very well. They are winning their various successes through force of armed manpower, while it appears that the Allies have, to date, based their strength on manpower alone. Russia's unusual turning came when Americans and, to a lesser extent, British troops began to flow into that country. Britain's notable decline in the air was brought to its height with a flow of United States planes. As things stood after the fall of France, Great Britain and Russia were unable to compete against Germany, though their combined populations were about equal to that of not only Germany, but Italy and Japan as well.

Man, war on the field, then, is not the final answer. Other factors enter into the picture which make this war vastly different from any other conflict. Strategies, both in operations and behind the lines, play their part to an extent that few understand. It is hoped that in succeeding weeks some attention might be paid here to the various aspects of warfare which might lead to a better understanding of what we are up against.

Si-gapore's Fall Came Just 4 Years After Completion

WHEN Sir A. E. Percival, commander of the Singapore defences, signed instruments of unconditional surrender after a valiant but hopeless struggle against overwhelming forces, the dreamlike history of the great British stronghold came to an end.

Four years earlier to the day the great project of bringing the island stronghold up to invincibility was completed. This job of modernization, requiring twenty years and an expenditure of $400,000,000 raised the status of Singapore from not much more than a fishing village to the third greatest British port to only London and Liverpool. Two immense dry docks made her not only a port and naval base, but a base where whole battleships could be repaired and modernized if needs be. The dry docks were the first to be located by Great Britain east of the Mediterranean.

The defences of Singapore rested chiefly on great firing power of her gigantic armament set in concrete. Commanding the waters between India and all land westward except for strips of Burmese and Malayan coastline, these guns could hit ships with deadly accuracy fifty miles at sea. They were 15 inches of a type which was developed especially for the job they were intended to do. Through this cross-roads of traffic annually passed fifteen tons of shipping with a value of seven hundred and fifty millions of dollars during the years of peace.

The night of February 14, 1939 must have been similar in appearance to that of February 14, 1942 in many respects. On the earlier night the dark tropical black was broken by great bonfires set by natives in their part of the village. Making a brilliant spectacle of glaring white, immense searchlights picked out a flight of some eighty R.A.F. planes as they lazily shouldered overhead. The huge guns of the place were stilled now, but during that afternoon they had been heard. The first gun fired as the sharp growl of the yacht of the governor of Singapore, Sir Thomas Stonham, cut the silence shortly across the harbour's mouth.

This shot was answered by the combined guns of twenty-four British, Chinese and East Indies naval units, who, proudly flag-decked, had been joined by three United States men-of-war.

On February 14, 1942, the Japanese were cutting the great primitive boom which stretched across the harbour mouth. The great searchlights searched out planes but this time they were enemy planes. Huge fires burned, driving thousands of civilians out of the buildings, and Sir Thomas Stonham, who received the congratulations of the visitors on that occasion, was this time received into their custody for internment.

GEAT hopes were entertained that the "impregnable bastion" as it has been called even as recently as one month ago, would serve to discourage aggression and emphasize Britain's hopes for peace.

Now that the bastion is in enemy hands, there are many who point to the grievous errors which made the expenditure of so much money both wasteful and unnecessary.

They point out that there were no air defences for Singapore, although air attacks, if attacks land, should have been expected. Without planes for what Singapore decided to do, the Japanese could muster on aircraft over the bases on Sumatra and Java or some time these bases.

For under attack by Japanese had been in many cases they had aviators

the enemy. Air attack failed to make fully if an attempt was made to seize the strongest

ing from these searchlight installations.

The experts also point to the immobility of the great guns and other defensive features of Singapore. Admirably suited to the repulsion of an ocean-born attack, it was thought by the attack, if that Singapore would withstand the assault, for would be immune to the island the only land access the Federated as down through military operations States. This and the fact of the dense jungle, campaign."

SWEEPING SKIES OVER CONVOY

Since the start of the war Canada's Navy has shown phenomenal ability to cope with heavy demands made upon it. Among the proudest achievements has been the work done on convoy duty. In this photo, ready for the enemy from the skies, a steel-helmeted seaman-gunner stands guard, hoping to get a Nazi bomber true on his sights.

BUFFALO—that Miss Cline was moved to take up her abode in the Mountain district as an instructor in Caney Creek Community School.

This school was founded twenty-five years ago and is entirely supported by the voluntary contributions of interested people. It provides free tuition for 200 boys and girls, who graduate with a two-year university course, and pledge themselves to remain in the Mountains working to redeem their won people from ignorance and poverty.

There are five million people in the five Mountain States, approximately two million are children of school age. There are district schools but these are only a little better than none. It is the lack of roads that have kept the people backward and road building is difficult. One Mountain boy said, "I think God doesn't want us to be lazy: we build roads — God sends floods — we have to build them again." Civilization has passed these people by since Elizabethan times.

The economic situation is difficult. The people live by agriculture—but one wonders how. True defences on Singapore. Bywater claimed that it would be another instance of unmanageable British possessions which could not be held because of Britain's lack of capital ships to defend it.

Many fear that in building the Singapore base England may be stoning out a halfway house, and then, half-garrisoning it, as is her wont, making a present of it to the wrong people."

The capital ships were there, but they were caught without air defences, and sank from on high.

These ships might have patrolled the whole island and prevented a land-born invasion by breaking up invasion concentrations.

Bywater's reference to Singapore being half-garrisoned was also prophetic. The inadequacy of Singapore's defences sprung from lack of a proper arsenal and an under-estimation of the striking power possessed by the Japanese.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Andrew Stevenson.

St. Andrew's W.A.

With the Little Juniors under Mrs. H. Wilson, cutting out patches for a cowboy quilt, and Mrs. E. L. Milne's Girls' Branch busy making up warm garments for the children of a mission school, while the Seniors are beginning a chain of Vanishing Teas, St. Andrew's Woman's Auxiliary marks the opening of an active Spring term.

The February Business Meeting held on Monday afternoon at the Parish Hall — a week late on account of the heavy snowfall — was well attended, and four new members were welcomed.

Materials to be made into clothing for the Mission School have been purchased, and are being cut out under the direction of Mrs. G. F. Wheeler, Director Secretary.

At the close of the business session, Rev. J. A. Bellard came in and gave an earnest talk on the relationship of the W. A. to the parish, which was listened to attentively. All took part in the animated discussion which followed while enjoying the tea served by Mrs. F. Fellows and her assistants.

A happy feature of the afternoon was the presentation of flowers to Mrs. J. W. Urwin, in honour of her birthday, with the good wishes of all the members. The President, Mrs. Wm. Jose, made the presentation.

Penny Sale Was Successful

The spirit of fun and sociability that always seems to accompany a Penny Sale was much in evidence when the Beaver Club of St. John's Presbyterian Church staged theirs at the home of Mrs. Clarence H. McNinch, Elizabeth Street, last Friday evening.

Mrs. Charles Correll and Mrs. Geo. W. Doussett were the "hostess," and the clever manner in which they displayed their wares to rouse the curiosity of their customers added much to the gayety of the occasion as well as helped to swell the profits.

When at last the many and varied articles of merchandise had reached the hands of the purchasers — it was found that one lucky customer had carried off no less than $100 — the proceeds were counted and the Beaver Club was the richer by the sum of $12.00.

Refreshments served by the hostess and a box of Beavers rounded out the evening's entertainment.

Trinity Women's Association

The regular business meeting of the Trinity Women's Association was held on Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. W. J. Watt with the president Mrs. W. W. McNiven presiding. Her many friends will be pleased to bear that Miss Joyce Shelton, who underwent an operation for appendicitis late Sunday night at the Hamilton General Hospital, is resting quietly and is doing as well as can be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Burton entertained a number of their friends last Friday evening. Cards and games were enjoyed throughout the evening and after the play a delightful luncheon was served by the hostess.

Miss Peggy O'Neill, of Grimsby, has been invited to sing with the "Thumbs Up" review travelling with the company to a number of different towns in Ontario. Miss O'Neill makes her first appearance next Tuesday evening in Paris. Her many friends wish her every success in her undertaking.

While the teasups were being handed round by Mrs. Kenneth Griffith and Mrs. Norman Johnson, Mrs. Croft seized the opportunity of telling the company that they were invited to hold their next meeting at the home of Mrs. Griffith on February 27th. Also Mrs. Clarence H. McNinch was to entertain her sewing group at their first new-sociable on Tuesday afternoon, February 24th.

It was observed that most of the knitters were working on civilian garments with dainty baby things — bonnets, jackets and booties — predominating. A few small girls' pullovers, in bright, pretty wool, were in hand, and added their own cheerful note to the scene. There were one or two pairs of the heavy, grey sailors' stockings under way, too, and these are always good for a laugh; there is something comic in their ungainly, overgrown appearance.

T.C.A. SERVICE FORCE AT ALL TIME PEAK

With more than 500 employees now working in offices and shops at Stevenson Field Trans-Canada Air Lines personnel here is at an all-time peak. Extension of the national air line's operations elsewhere in Canada or the United States is reflected in activities at the St. James Airport since at this point is performed the bulk of the maintenance and overhaul work on the company's fleet of aircraft, engines and their accessories. T.C.A. operates more than 18,000 miles a day and this transportation machine must be kept in efficient operation at a time when speed is vital in the nation's war effort.

WEATHER VARIATIONS MAKE RAIL PROBLEMS

Relaxing on the Central Region of the Canadian National Railways during winter must face a wide variation in temperatures. One day's reports recently showed a variation of 100 degrees between points in Ontario. At Windsor, Ontario, the railway thermometer said 42, while at the same hour the agent at Joliette, near the head of the Great Lakes in Northern Ontario, reported 56 degrees below zero.

"SHEEING" OR "SKEEING" IS OUTDOOR PROBLEM

Crown Prince Olaf, of Norway, is responsible for a problem now interesting many Canadian skiers, whether to "shee" or to "skeel". Prince Olaf, himself an enthusiast of the downhill and trail, raised the question after a journey over the Canadian National Railways from the popular ski grounds near Huntsville, Ontario. Asked for the proper pronunciation of the word now in daily use throughout the snow belts of Canada and the United States, His Royal Highness suggested "shee" rather than "skeel," adding that "shee" is Norwegian while "skeel" is German in origin.

DOGS IN AMERICA

War Brings A Change

By PHILOKUON

Receipt of New Year's greetings from Mrs. Dodge, one of the wealthiest exhibitors in the United States, reminds me of the changes in dogdom that are likely to arise there as the result of war conditions. Until recently, somewhat to our envy, they have been able to carry on as usual. Now, I expect, things will be very different. In a sense, war did affect their customary habits; for every year large numbers of Americans used to attend our shows, and often made extensive purchases of our best stock at very high figures.

One might almost say that it was the Americans who set the fashion for enormous prices. The biggest sums ever paid by them to the best of my knowledge have been something in excess of £2,000 for a wire fox terrier, and the round £2,000 for a chow chow, but there have been many others that amaze the public who are not aware of the value placed on some of the best. More than fifty years ago an American exhibitor made a sensation by paying £1,300 for one of our St. Bernards, and about the same period colliers in this country were changing hands for as much. During the present century the average has risen appreciably side by side with the great increase in the popularity of dog showing here and in most parts of the world.

Mrs. Dodge is so enthusiastic that she organizes yearly the important Morris and Essex Show, held on her country estate, at which she entertains on a lavish scale. I think I am right in saying that as many as 50,000 people attend these shows every year. The Americans beat us in the arts of showmanship, having discovered the means of attracting the general public, our only comparable event being Cruft's of this month.

When war broke out our American friends showed their generosity by offering hospitality to British dogs—so that we could be sure of keeping famous strains in existence. Unfortunately, the cost of freightage, risks entailed, and the quarantine regulations when the dogs had to return, prevented any wide acceptance of these offers, much though the kindly thought was appreciated. I believe some foundations have been set across the Atlantic.

Apart from the exhibition angle, the Americans are great dog lovers generally. When the Tail-Waggers' Club was founded, the members appealed to them immensely, and before long large numbers of American dogs were enrolled with us. We have also had our imitators there, but the parent club still has its supporters in the United States, some of whom have conducted extensive recruiting campaigns to help us under the present trying conditions. We are frequently in receipt of encouraging letters from these friendly people. Americans also took advantage of the reduction in our kennels consequent upon the opening of hostilities and hundreds of our good dogs have found new homes there. One thing seems to be certain: When peace comes and affairs are straightened out, dog showing will be resumed with unabated vigour.

NOTE:—This chat is issued by The Tail-Waggers' Club, Willing House, 256-260 Grays Inn Road, London, W.C.I. The Club will be pleased to answer any enquiries submitted by Tail-Wagger owners in connection with canine hygiene and welfare.

AIR MAIL EXPRESS SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Trans-Canada Air Lines planes are carrying substantially more mail and express, recent reports show. The record for air mail carrying was in December last when 150,261 pounds were transported throughout Canada.

Forwarding Mail Is Part Of Great Work of Red Cross

By GARRY ALLIGHAN

London—Joining up of broken heart-throbs is a nonstop labor of love wherein Canada has an extensive interest. One end of the thread is in some war-prisoners' camp; the other may be in some bombed town in Britain. In one is a captured airman writing mother or sweetheart, not knowing that the house to which the letter is addressed is now—a heap of rubble. When no reply to his letters are received, the pangs of isolation and neglect are added to the pain of loneliness.

He cannot know, of course, that his mother's or sweetheart's house no longer has a postal address—that it is a patch of debris surrounded by ruined buildings, and that his loved one is wandering from friend to friend for temporary shelter, aching to hear from him, while his letter to her lies in the "dead" letter box of a London office.

That office is in the headquarters of the Soldiers' Sailors' and Airmen Families Association, with whom the Canadian Red Cross is in close and constant co-operation. I have just seen a pile of nearly 1,200 such "dead" letters lying there. Patiently and methodically, inquiries regarding the whereabouts of the persons to whom these letters are addressed will be made through the 400 divisions with which the association serves the entire country.

In the majority of cases, the addressee, when located, is found to be in need, often from the after-effects of bombing. It is then that the Canadian Red Cross enters the scene. Already nearly a quarter of a million garments from Canada have been supplied by the Red Cross to families of servicemen, including hundreds who are now in enemy prison camps.

It is on the Canadian Red Cross supplies of clothing, boots and babies' wear that the association relies to a great extent. When the broken threads have been mended by tracing mother or sweetheart and the letter from the jail in captivity is delivered, the association provides any assistance which the woman or the family may need, leaving the lonely man in enemy's hands of this particular worry.

Every day more than 2,000 articles are dispatched to needy families of servicemen. That is a ministry of mercy which the Red Cross makes possible in Canada's name.

Please send your donations to the Red Cross British Zone Victory Fund, either through your local society or direct to the Canadian Red Cross Society, 95 Wellesley St., Toronto.

Interesting Facts Regarding Honey As Health Food

The rationing of sugar has created considerable interest in honey and the beekeeping industry.

In view of this fact, the following notes of interest concerning honey will facilitate in the preparation of special articles to meet this demand.

1.—Honey will partially replace sugar under the Wartime rationing plan.

2.—Honey can take the place of sugar—in almost all household uses, including—sweetening of desserts and breakfast cereals; baking; preserving; and many prefer it in their tea.

3.—Honey is a simpler carbohydrate than cane sugar, and has the advantage that it passes directly into the blood stream without going through the process of digestion, and therefore is readily available as a source of energy.

4.—In addition, honey contains mineral and protein, very essential in the everyday diet.

5.—Recipes for the use of honey in all manners may be obtained through the Apiculture Department, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Notes of Interest Concerning The Beekeeping Industry

1.—Ontario is one of the most suitable locations in the world for honey production.

2.—We have in Ontario approximately 7,000 beekeepers, operating over 200,000 colonies of bees.

3.—The normal production by commercial beekeepers is in the neighbourhood of 100 lbs. per colony.

4.—A strong colony at the height of the season may contain 200,000 bees.

5.—The largest beekeeper in the Province at the present time is Mr. E. A. Hogarth, of Tara, operating approximately 1,700 colonies.

6.—In 1938 Ontario produced over 16,000,000 lbs. of honey. In 1941 the production in Ontario was approximately 11,000,000 lbs.

7.—The Ontario Honey Producers Co-operative, Limited, Toronto, markets upwards of 5,000,000 lbs. of honey annually.

Facts Regarding Flight Activities

• Of The Honey-Bee

1.—A bee makes an average of 32 trips in its entire life.

2.—The bee's average load is 25 milligrams or 0.0009 of an ounce.

3.—An average bee would gather in its entire life 0.0285 of an ounce.

4.—In order to gather an ounce of honey a single bee would make about 1,112 trips.

5.—In order to gather a pound it would have to make about 17,792 trips.

6.—To gather an ounce a single bee would have to travel (figuring average flight of 2 miles round trip) 2,224 miles.

7.—To gather a pound it would have to travel 25,664 miles or more than once around the world.

8.—To gather an ounce about 25 bees are worn out and die.

9.—To gather a pound about 556 bees are worn out and die.

10.—The average bee makes about two trips per day figuring an average life of about three weeks as a field bee.

11.—A colony consisting of 50,000 worker bees would then bring

Can Look Forward To Strong Hog Market This Year

In the Canadian hog and bacon industry, new records of achievement were set up in the year 1941. Commercial slaughtering were the highest on record, and exports of bacon and ham exceeded any previous year by a wide margin, says the Current Review. Hog prices were below the level of 1940 from January through April, but a sharp upward trend commenced in May, culminating in a peak late in July. During the last half of the year, however, prices continued strong and well above the corresponding period of 1940.

With no further sharp increases in hog marketing likely to occur before the latter half of 1942, and with large commitments for Canadian bacon, hams, and certain other pork products, Canadian hog producers can look for a continued strong market for the next few months. Every hog carcass of export quality is now needed to make up weekly shipments, and the continued restriction of domestic sales is in prospect for some time to come.

ALL-METAL PLANE COVERING

In the Lockheed aeroplane, which has established such an outstanding record for stability and all-round effectiveness during the present war and which is standard equipment for Trans-Canada Air Lines, the all-metal covering distributes the aerodynamic and load throughout the entire structure. This is much more efficient and gives much greater strength than the tubular steel structure. The metal covering is an aluminum alloy as strong as steel but with only one-third the weight.

Raise Chicks Early Says Poultryman

Plan your poultry programme this spring to raise your chicks early says J. H. Pettit, Poultry Department, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Order your chicks at least a month in advance. If hatching your own chicks start as soon as possible. Buy February or March chicks rather than late May or June, he advises.

It is not possible for everyone to raise chicks early in the season but it is an established fact that late hatched chicks do not grow as fast as early hatched chicks. Records have shown the mortality rate is lower for early hatched chicks than those hatched later in the season. They have the advantage of starting their brooding period under more ideal climatic conditions. Chicks do not grow as well during the hot summer months.

The early hatched chick is able to make the best use of the tender nutritious green feed. This helps to lower feed costs. Stronger, healthier pullets are placed in the laying houses from the early hatched chicks. They start to lay earlier and this insures larger eggs during the fall months when the higher prices prevail.

Cocherels hatched early in the season can be marketed during the summer or early fall. More profitable gains can be obtained because of the faster growth. Marketing can be carried on in an orderly manner over a longer period of time.

The early pullets will come into production soon enough to help fill the 1942 egg contracts for Britain, Mr. Pettit states.

5.—CANADIAN NATIONAL HAS LARGE MILEAGE

Of nearly forty-three thousand miles of steam lines in Canada, the Canadian National Railways operates fifty-one percent of the total.

In 144 ounces or 9 lbs. of honey per day.

12.—Average colony of 80,000 workers bees under ideal conditions would bring in from the different sources about 10 lbs. of alfalfa clover a day, 15 lbs. of basswood, 16 lbs. buckwheat, 20 lbs. of sweet clover. Weather conditions must be favourable in order to bring in this amount.

6.—SPEAK distinctly, directly into the mouthpiece.

7.—ANSWER promptly when the bell rings.

8.—BE BRIEF. Clear your line for the next call.

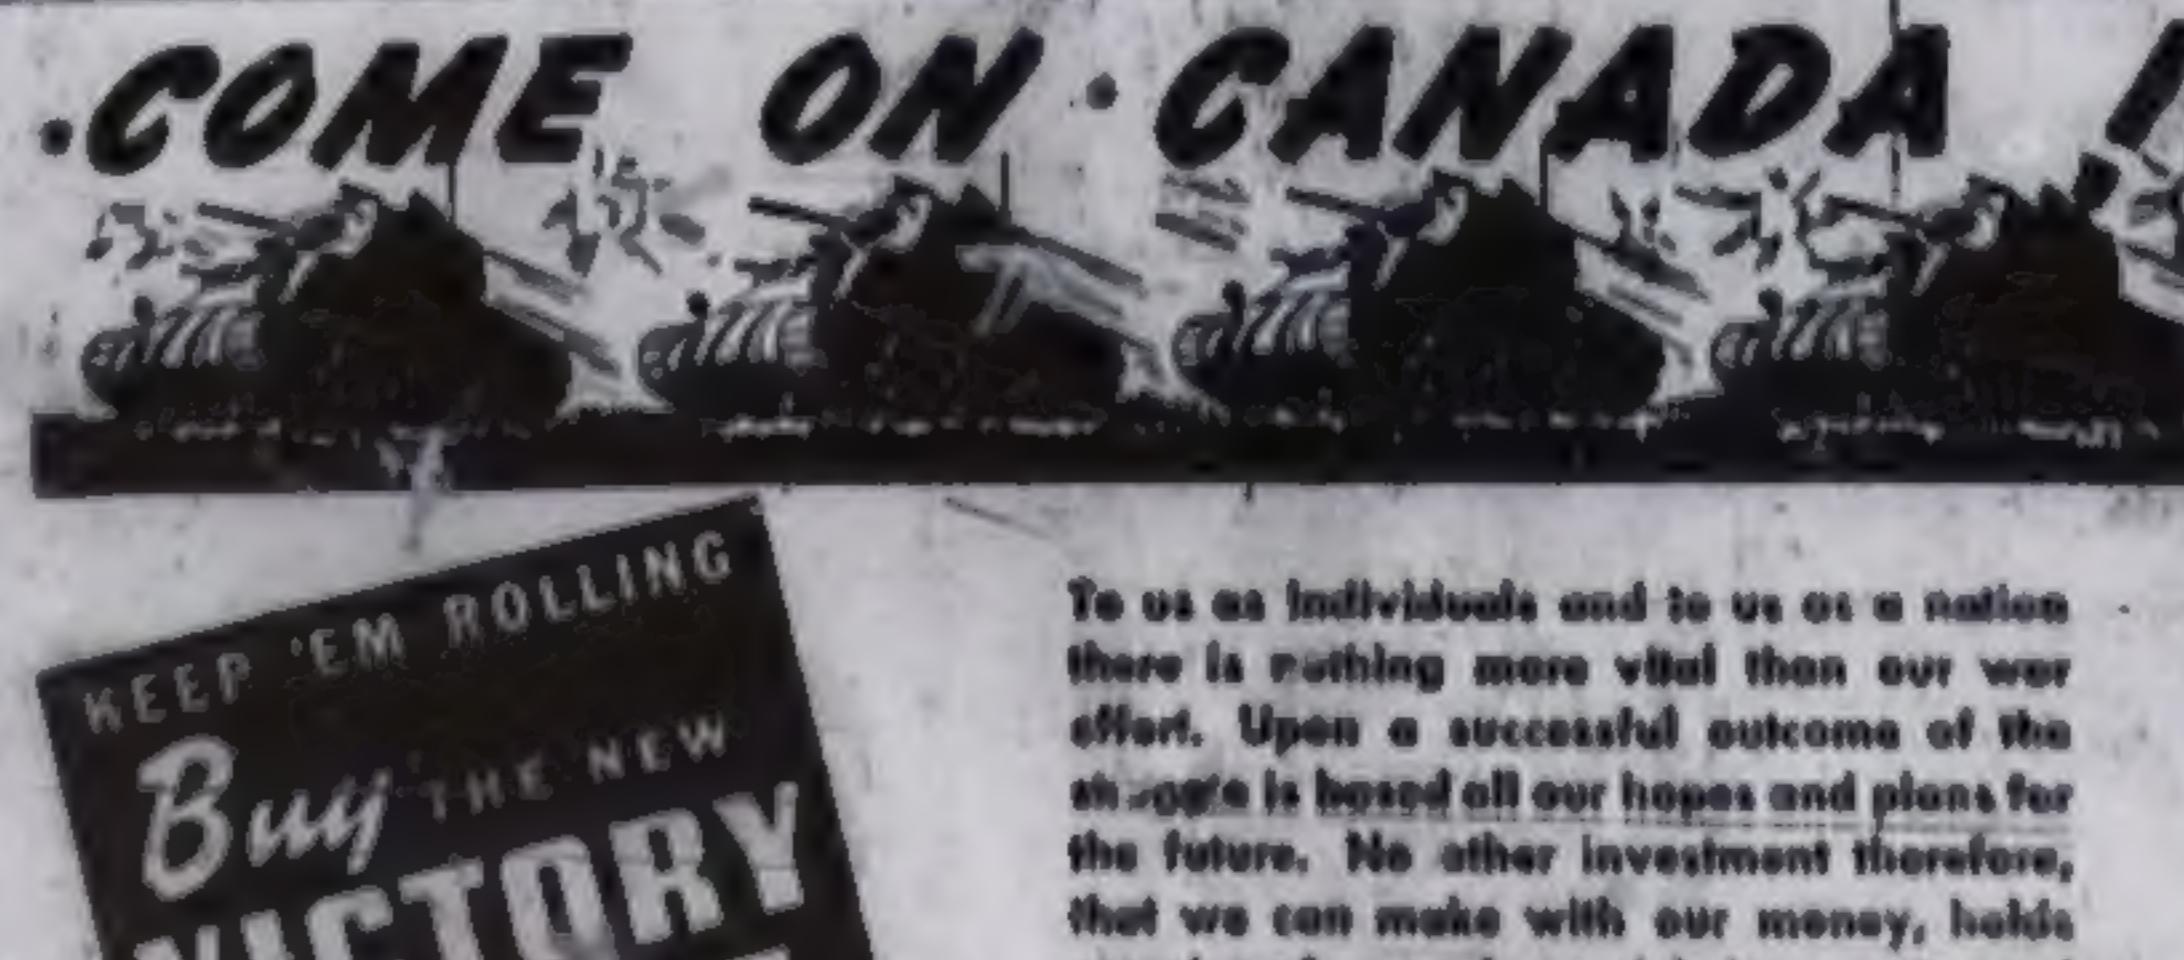

9.—USE OFF-PEAK hours for your Long Distance calls.

These things may look trifling, but on 3,000,000 daily telephone calls, they are very important.

THE White
Elephant Shoppe

The following letter was received by the White Elephant Shop of Grimsby from the Ontario Division:

Feb. 18th, 1942

Dear Mrs. Wade:
Will you please accept and convey to the other members of the White Elephant Shop the thanks of the executive of the Ontario Division for the generous gift of funds for the purchase of a station wagon.

Since the question of this gift was first discussed the situation regarding the delivery of station wagons has become much more difficult, and it is essential now for the society to procure a priority order from the authorities at Ottawa before the order can be placed with the manufacturer. The necessary steps for doing this are being taken.

I would suggest that this vehicle bear a similar plate reading as follows: "Donated by the community of Grimsby through the White Elephant Shop". Will this meet with the approval of your executive?

It is understood that this vehicle will be shipped overseas and used where most needed at one or other of the hospitals caring for Canadians in England.

Very truly yours,
Stafford Roberts,
Commissioner Ontario Division.

HARRY RUSSELL GRIGG

The passing of Harry Russell Grigg, fruit grower and farmer, at his home on the Ridge Road on Sunday, February 12th, brought sorrow to his many friends in North Grimsby Township and district. Mr. Grigg had been a resident of that district for the last sixty years. He was an active member of the Assembly Baptist Church, and had served as a deacon and secretary-treasurer for a number of years. Surviving besides his wife the former Mabel Bright, are two sisters, Mrs. W. G. Brand, North Grimsby, and Mrs. Ward Delahouche, Toronto; also a brother E. W. Grigg, of St. Ann's. Funeral service at his late home, Ridge road, was followed by service at the Baptist Church with Rev. T. E. Richards, Grimsby, and Rev. George Stephenson, of Rock Chapel, officiating. The church was filled as a great number of friends and relatives gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased. Interment was made in Queen's Lawn cemetery and the pallbearers were: Fred Oakar, W. L. Bengough, I. Flott, Lewis Hawkey, Clarence Brand, and John Bowdough.

To The Editor

The Editor,
The Grimsby Independent.
Dear Sirs:

I am in receipt of the second copy of your fine paper. The Grimsby Independent. I enjoy reading it tremendously as it gives a homelike atmosphere. I enjoy it so much more at this camp which is off the direct route of communication.

I owe a lot of gratitude to the publisher of this paper as it makes it possible to get in on the up-to-date events of home-town events. It's one way of keeping in touch with your old chums, and the boys who are serving in various units of the armed forces of Canada.

Sincerely yours,
Pvt. Sgt. M. Pitkowksi,

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

DO YOU REMEMBER
TEN YEARS AGO

From Files of February 17, 1932

Salaries of all employees of the Lincoln County Council, together with the sessions and committees of the council were reduced by the council at Wednesday morning's session. The cut was not a straight ten per cent reduction as had been suggested but in many cases of salary was over 10 per cent, while the council took a direct 10 per cent cut on their own fees.

Among the important matters dealt with by the North Grimsby Township Council at its February meeting held on Saturday afternoon last in the council chamber, Grimsby, were the fixing of the road appropriation for the year which was reduced by the sum of $1500 and the appointment of a committee of the council to negotiate with the Hydro in connection with the provision of a street lighting system at Grimsby Beach in response to the request of a delegation from the Grimsby Beach Cottagers' Association which appeared before the council. All members were present. Reeve Lawson in the chair.

The water main from Pajon St. to the lake which has been in course of construction for the past three weeks and on which from eighteen men have been employed in different shifts has been completed. A similar drain is under-way on Robinson Street.

Mr. W. E. Cullingsford attended the Mandolinists Choir Concert in Toronto on Thursday evening.

Fire completely destroyed the dwelling of Mr. Brown at Winsor about 3 o'clock Thursday morning. The Grimsby firemen responded as well as firemen from Hamilton. The occupants of the house were rescued through windows by the neighbours. The fire it is thought originated from an over-heated furnace.
